Summer work

HOLD!

Summer is almost here and even though it is time to rest, it is also a good time to practice what you learn this school year. So... I have created a Google Classroom to post your summer work. You have automatically been invited to the level that you will be going to.

So this is how your summer assignments will work, every two weeks starting next week you will receive a Choice Board, where you must complete 2 of the assignments in the board, and you will have 2 weeks to complete them. So you will have a total of 8 assignments all summer.

These assignments are designed to practice reading, writing, speaking and listening.

Now here is the cool part, your summer assignments are OPTIONAL, but, if you choose to complete them, you will earn a FREE homework in your next Spanish level for each set of assignment that you complete, meaning, if you forgot to do a homework in Q1 I will remove the zero if you complete the first assignment, or if you have done all your homework, you can choose not to do the last one and you will not get a zero.

You can only complete the activities within the 2 week period for each assignment, if you miss the first one, then you can not do it later on in the summer or do all assignments the last week of the summer.

If you have any questions, you can reach out to me anytime!
